

Judicial Selection in the States

Appellate and General Jurisdiction Courts

“Summary of Initial Selection Methods”

Merit Selection¹	Gubernatorial (G) or Legislative (L) Appointment	Partisan Election	Non-Partisan Election	Combined Merit Selection and Other Methods²
Alaska	California (G)	Alabama	Arkansas	Arizona
Colorado	Maine (G)	Illinois	Georgia	Florida
Connecticut	New Jersey (G) ²	Louisiana	Idaho	Indiana
Delaware	Virginia (L)	New Mexico ²	Kentucky	Kansas
District of Columbia	South Carolina (L) ²	Ohio ²	Michigan ²	Missouri
Hawaii		Pennsylvania	Minnesota	New York
Iowa		Texas	Mississippi	Oklahoma
Maryland		West Virginia	Montana	South Dakota
Massachusetts			Nevada	Tennessee
Nebraska			North Carolina
New Hampshire			North Dakota
Rhode Island			Oregon
Utah			Washington
Vermont			Wisconsin
Wyoming

1. The following ten states use merit plans only to fill midterm vacancies on some or all levels of court: Alabama, Georgia, Idaho, Kentucky, Minnesota, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, and West Virginia.

2. See attached chart for details.